Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 20-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dunn in view of Watanabe.

Watanabe discloses, in Fig. 3, two pleated members which have fabrics which have different characteristics, such as one being nearly transparent while the other is opaque, column 3, lines 34-37.

Dunn discloses vertical slats which have light transmissivity. What is not shown is that the upper portion of the blind is opaque and the lower portion is somewhat transparent. However, as discussed above, Watanabe provides an ample teaching of the desire to have the upper portion of a shade opaque and the lower portion thereof somewhat transparent. In view of this teaching, it would have been obvious to modify Dunn whereby his slats are opaque at the top and somewhat transparent on the bottom, such transparency being achieved through the use of apertures or by way of transparent material as taught by Watanabe.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered. While Watanabe is different than Dunn in some respects, both references are window blinds. Watanabe teaches the desire to provide a shading system whereby one window shade provides two different shading characteristics simultaneously. Even though the coverage of the respective shading portions is selective, this is a clear teaching to modify a vertical blind to have such a dual characteristic feature.
